The BOSTON Evening-Post.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

To the Publiſhers of the BOSTON EVENING-POST.

I Obſerve in your weekly papers, that you ſtill publiſh to the world the Gentleman who is choſen to preach before the ancient and honorable artillery company at their enſuing election of officers; from whence I neceſſarily infer, that you are their ſtrong adherents, if not their warmeſt advocates: Upon ſuppoſition of your being at leaſt the former, I ſhall take the liberty to enquire, how this body corporate came by the ſingular privileges they ſo much boaſt of (I mean, as being veſted in their charter) and to what end thoſe privileges were granted? Doubtleſs you will ſay, their charter was derived from the legiſlature of the province, upon condition of compleating themſelves and their countrymen in the art of gunnery and uſe of fire arms; the inhabitants being at the time of their incorporation greatly embarraſſed by a war with the natives, and under fearful apprehenſions of an invaſion from a foreign enemy. All this I will allow, and grant as neceſſary; but when theſe apprehenſions ſubſided and the company no longer anſwered theſe valuable purpoſes, was not their charter thereby vacated, and rendered extinct? In my humble opinion it was, as it no longer ſerved the purpoſes for which it was given.—I diſpute not but that twenty or thirty men (or a number ſtill ſmaller if you pleaſe) may have a right to exerciſe ſmall arms for diverſion, either with or excluſive of a charter; but what I principally find fault with, is, that their annual election is uſher'd in with ſo much pomp, not to ſay oſtentatious appearance; and that at ſuch times they ſhould be addreſſed from the pulpit as the peculiar guardians of the people, and only bulwark of the country; and what is ſtill more prepoſterous, that the Supreme Being ſhould be antecedently invoked on their behalf, in words of the ſame import. I am confident, were the ſame encomiums beſtowed on them in a leſs public and ſolemn manner, they would reſent it, as being highly ſatyrical. For my own part (tho' I would not offend modeſt minds) I cannot think ſuch a conduct is the leſs ridiculous for being ſacred.—That this has been the cuſtom in former times, is too notorious to admit a contradiction; but more lately our reverend divines have waved this method, in their annual diſcourſes before this antient company, and I hope you are ſenſible not without reaſon.

From your old Friend and Correſpondent.

VERITAS.

To the Publiſhers of the BOSTON EVENING-POST.

THE board of correſpondence in the colony Connecticut, being called together on the 12th of March 1765, to examine a number of Students, in the Charity-School in Lebanon, under the care of the Rev. Mr. Wheelock, in order to their being authorized and ſent forth as miſſionaries and ſchool-maſters, among remote tribes of Indians; at the very inſtant when the commiſſioners were coming together, came in Gwedelhes Agwirondongwas, a man noted for integrity and religion, and of diſtinction and great importance among his tribe on Suſquehanna river, and who was the principal actor in taking the Delawares, who were ſent to New York goal, laſt year: and with him Dawet Shagorakarongo, ſon of the chief Sachem of that party; and brought with them a boy deſigned for this ſchool. And at the ſame time came in Mr. Eliſha Gun, an accompliſhed interpreter; who had heretofore for ſeveral years reſided in the ſame place with theſe Indians, and contracted an intimate acquaintance with each of them. Theſe three parties, though from places ſo very remote, all met together, at this favourable juncture within the ſpace of half an hour, without any previous notice or appointment. By Mr. Gun, they were enabled in the beſt manner to communicate, and we to receive the meſſage which they brought, and which was the firſt thing the commiſſioners attended to, and was as follows.

"Brethren, I received intelligence from this miniſter here, (meaning Mr. Wheelock) that he deſired I would viſit him at his ſchool. After I had conſidered of the affair, I informed the Indians: They called a council; in which I told them, I had concluded to accept of his offer. At which they ſaid they were very glad, as they wanted to ſend a ſpeech to their brethren the Engliſh, and had no white man to write for them. They thanked me for my undertaking, and delivered me a ſpeech to be delivered to our brethren the Engliſh, as follows.

"Brethren, We thank you greatly that you love and regard us. Brethren, you ſay, that you love God's Newes; likewiſe, that you love the Indians, that you love God's Newes, above every thing; that you deſire we ſhould be happy as well as you. We are exceeding glad Brethren, that we hear ſuch things from you. Brethren, you ſay, that you would be glad if you had our children, that you might learn them to read. It is a very difficult thing for us to ſend them now; the moſt of them are from home. Another difficulty is, we hear they have the Small-Pox, on the road, and we are concerned about that. We expect, Brethren, that you will ſend us a miniſter this ſpring; and that we ſhall have opportunity to ſend our children by him, as he goes backwards and forwards.

Now, Brethren, Concerning your ſending a miniſter among us. We have had many miniſters; they come and ſtay among us a little while; and we juſt begin to love them, and they go away and leave us. Now we want your ſhould ſend us a miniſter who is a man of courage and reſolution; one who will correct his children, (meaning his people) when they do amiſs. When fathers (for ſo they call Miniſters) are gone, children will often behave themſelves imprudently.

When our fathers were gone, we took up the hatchet, againſt the Delawares, in defence of our brethren the Engliſh; and cut a piece of their fleſh. And ſince this, our brethren have left us expoſed, without any means of defence. It has been a time of difficulty with us; but now we think it almoſt over: We think it will be peace.

Now, Brethren, We ſhould be exceeding glad of a good miniſter among us. We are poor miſerable creatures, left all alone, deſtitute of a miniſter. We give our hearty thanks to our brethren for your love to us, and the care you take of us."

After this the board immediately proceeded to the buſineſs for which they were called; and how directly and agreeable they purſued the thing requeſted of them, may appear by the votes then paſſed; which are as follow.

The board having examined Mr. Titus Smith, and Mr. Theophilus Chamberlin, as to their qualifications for miſſionaries among the Indians, do approve of them as qualified for that buſineſs.

And it is further agreed by this board, That Mr. Titus Smith, and Mr. Theophilus Chamberlain, be ſeparated and ſet apart to the work of the goſpel miniſtry, and a miſſion among the Indians, by faſting and prayer, with laying on of hands, on wedneſday the 24th of April next.

Voted, That nine of the Indian ſcholars now at the Charity-School, under the care of the Rev. Mr. Wheelock, return to the Indian tribes for a ſeaſon. Three of which, viz. Joſeph Wooley, David Fowler, and Hezekiah Calvin, are recommended by this board to be improved as ſchool-maſters among thoſe tribes, having been examined for that purpoſe. The others, though well inſtructed and educated for the time, yet conſidering their want of age, are to be employed by the Engliſh miſſionaries, and under their care and direction, in ſuch ſervice and employment, as ſhall be found moſt ſerviceable and uſeful for them, and thoſe tribes where they ſhall reſide; and in ſpecial to perfect themſelves in the languages of thoſe tribes. The ſchool-maſters alſo to be employed under the viſitation and direction of the Engliſh miſſionaries while they reſide there.

Hereupon, Anſwer was returned by this board to the foregoing requeſt, that a miſſionary was appointed for them, provided ſupport for him may be obtained.

And as there is no fund nor any proviſion made for their ſupport on their miſſion; and a wider door than ever is now opened, by late favourable occurrences to carry the goſpel far into the Indian country; and the advantages thereof at the preſent juncture, likely to be greater than ever to the crown of Great-Britain, as well as to the enlargement of the kingdom of the Great Redeemer: So it is hoped and earneſtly deſired, that chriſtians of every denomination, who love our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and wiſh well to our King and country, would ſhew their liberality upon this occaſion, and that in proportion as their expence, in ſuch a ſituation, where no aſſiſtance from the Savages, is to be expected, muſt needs be very conſiderable; though they neither aſk nor deſire more than to be ſupported, while in that ſervice, ſo as to be able to perform the important buſineſs, and anſwer the great ends of their miſſion.

And we hope ſuch a pattern and example of charity towards the periſhing creatures as they herein ſhew, will be a further motive to excite largeneſs of heart, in the people of God, ſufficient to feed and cloath them, while they are thus jeoparding their own lives, and riſquing every worldly intereſt, to ſerve our King and country, and eſpecially ſave the periſhing ſouls of men from eternal death. Sign'd by order of the board of correſpondence,

ELAZR. WHEELOCK, Secretary.

Extracts of Col. Draper's Answer to the Spanish arguments, claiming the Galeon, and refusing payment of the Ransom bills, for preventing Manila from pillage and destruction.

The Spanish Arguments for refusing payment.

THE English generals who made themselves masters of Manila proposed, on the 5th of October, 1762, a capitulation to the archbishop, who acted as governour; by which they promised to preserve the city from pillage, if the governour and principal magistrates would consent to, and sign the articles of, the said capitulation; which they were forced to do, being threatened to be put to the sword, in case of refusal.

Notwithstanding this shameful capitulation, extorted and signed by means of violence and rigour, General Draper ordered or suffered the city to be sacked and pillaged, for forty hours, by four thousand English, who plundered it of more than a million of dollars.

Therefore the said captitulation ought to be void, because it was signed by force; and because general Draper first violated and broke the capitulation, by permitting the city to be pillaged: consequently, that capitulation only, which was proposed by the governour, accepted of, and signed by Admiral Cornish, and General Draper, upon the seventh of October, ought to be considered and respected in this affair:

The first article of which grants to the inhabitants of Manila, the peaceable and quiet possession of all their effects; the fourth and sixth grant them the liberty of commerce, under the protection of his Britannick Majesty.

REFUTATION.

IT is a known and universal rule of war amongst the most civilized nations, that places taken by storm, without any capitulation, are subject to all the miseries that the conquerours may chuse to inflict.

Manila, my Lord, was in this horrid situation; of consequence the lives of the inhabitants, with all belonging to them, were entirely at our mercy. But christianity, humanity, the dignity of our nation, and our own feelings as men, induced us not to exert the utmost rigour of the possession, against those wretched suppliants; although my own Secretary, Lieut. Fryar, had been murdered, as he was carrying a flag of truce to the town. The Admiral and I told the Archbishop and principal Magistrates, that we were desirous to save so fine a city from destruction, ordered them to withdraw, consult, and propose such terms of compensation as might satisfy the fleet and army, and exempt them from pillage and its fatal consequences.

The proposals they gave in, were the very same, which the Spaniards most artfully call a second capitulation; and were afterwards agreed to, and confirmed by us (with a few restrictions) but at that time were so unsuitable to their desperate situation, that we rejected them as unsatisfactory and inadmissible. As conquerours, we took the pen, and dictated those terms of the ransom which the Spaniards thought proper to submit to; for they had the alternative, either to be passive under the horrours of a pillage, or compound for their preservation; they accepted the latter.

The objection and pretence of force and violence may be made use of to evade any military agreements whatsoever, where the two parties do not treat upon an equality; for who, in war, will submit to an inconvenient and prejudicial compact, unless from force? but have the Spaniards forgot their own histories? or will they not remember the just indignation expressed against Francis the first, who pleaded the like subterfuge of force and violence, to evade the treaty made after the battle of Pavia, and his captivity?

Should such elusive doctrines prevail, it will be impossible, hereafter, for the vanquished to obtain any quarter or terms whatsoever; the war will be carried on usque ad internecionem; and if a Sovereign shall refuse to confirm the conditions stipulated by his subjects, who are in such critical situations, the consequences are too horrid to mention.

By the same sallacious sophistry, a state may object to the payment of the ransoms of ships taken at sea, and to contributions levied in a country which is the seat of war. But it is always allowed, that in such cases, a part must be sacrificed to save the whole, and surely, when by the laws of war we were entitled to the whole, it was a great degree of moderation to be contented with a part.

The destruction that we could have occasioned, would have trebled the loss they suffer by the payment of the ransom. The rich churches and convents, the King of Spain's own palace, with its superb and costly furniture, the magnificent buildings of every sort, fortifications, docks, magazines, founderies, cannon, and in short the whole might have been entirely ruined, the Spanish Empire in Asia subverted, and the fruits of their religious mission lost for ever, together with the lives of many thousand inhabitants, who were spared by our humanity. As a suitable and grateful return for this lenity, the Spanish memorial affirms, that after the capitulation was signed, General Draper ordered or permitted the city to be sacked and pillaged for forty hours together, by four thousand English, who plundered it of more than a million of dollars.

As my own character, both as an officer, and a man of honour, is so wickedly attacked by this unjust accusation, I must beg leave to state the whole affair in its true light; and do appeal for its veracity to the testimonies of every officer and soldier, who served in the expedition, and to all of the marine department.

We entered Manila by storm, on the 6th of Oct. 1762, with an handful of troops, whose total amounted to little more than two thousand; a motely composition of seamen, soldiers seapoys, Caffes, Lascars, Topasses, French and German deserters.

Many of the houses had been abandoned by the frightened inhabitants, and were burst open by the violence of shot, or explosion of shells. Some of these were entered and pillaged. But all military men know, how difficult it is to restrain the impetuosity of troops in the first fury of assault, especially when composed of such a variety and confusion of people, who differed as much in sentiments and language, as in dress and complexion.

Several hours elapsed, before the principal magistrates could be brought to a conference; during that interval, the inhabitants were undoubtedly great sufferers. But, my Lord, this violence was antecedent to our settling the terms of the capitulation, and by the laws of war, the place, with all its contents, became the unquestionable property of the captors, until a sufficient equivalent was given in lieu of it. That several robberies were committed, after the capitulation was signed, is not to be denied; for avarice, want, and rapacity, are ever insatiable; but that the place was pillaged for forty hours, and that pillage authorized and permitted by me, is a most false and infamous assertion. The people of Manila, my Lord, have imposed upon their court by a representation of facts which never existed; and to make such a groundless charge, the reason for setting aside a solemn capitulation, is a proceeding unheard of till now, and as void of decency as common sense.

The following extracts from the publick orders, given out the very day we entered the town, will sufficiently convince your Lordship, of my constant attention to the preservation of those ungrateful people; who have almost taught me to believe, that humanity and compassion are crimes.

EXTRACTS.

October 6th, Manila.

"The utmost order and regularity to be observed.

"All persons guilty of robberies, or plundering the churches and houses, will be hanged without mercy.

"The guards to send frequent patroles both day and night, to prevent all disorders.

"The drummers to beat to arms, the officers to assemble with their men, and call the rolls.

"The adjutants to go round the town, and take an exact account of the safe-guards, posted for the protection of the convents, churches, and houses."

October 7th.

"All the inhabitants of Manila are to be looked upon and treated as his Britannick Majesty's subjects: they having agreed to pay four millions of dollars, for the ransom and preservation of their city & effects.

"The criminals executed for robbery and sacrilege, to be buried at sunset."

LONDON,

Feb. 8. The hon. house of commons sat late on wednesday night on some affairs relating to the colonies.

This week dispatches of a very singular nature are said to have been received, signed by some of the principal inhabitants of his Majesty's province of Massachusets-Bay, in America.

It is now said endeavours will be used this sessions to impose certain duties on the produce of North-American manufacture, by bringing in a bill for that purpose.

Feb. 13. We hear the erecting a Scaffold in Westminster-hall for the trial of a noble Peer, is under the consideration of the board of works.

Within these few days near 100 journeymen silk throwsters engaged themselves for New-York, and Philadelphia, upon extraordinary encouragement; at both which places they are going to establish manufactures of silk.

They write from New-York, that the government have voted a sum sufficient to build fourteen armed vessels, for the security of the lakes contiguous to the frontiers of that province.

A general court-martial is appointed to be held for the trial of two officers, upon mutual complaints exhibited against each other whilst abroad, relative to disobedience of orders, challenging each other &c.

We hear her Majesty is three months advanced in her pregnancy.

It is reported, that one of the last created barons will be speedily advanced to the dignity of an earl, upon which new creation it is imagined he will resign his present employment in the state, which is one of the most lucrative.

The terms lately made by a most distinguished ornament of this country, on which alone he would accept a proffered preferment, we are assured, were as follow:

I. A right hon. brother to meet no further opposition in a certain election.

II. A Rev. brother to be advanced to right Rev. Lawn.

III. A third brother to be a Lord of trade.

IV. A son to be a Teller in the Exchequer.

V. Himself to have the absolute promise of the ——upon the first vacancy.

These terms being rejected as excessive, this son of liberty sinking at once into the lap of court favour, so far forgot himself as to forego the whole for a—Feather.

Charlestown, South-Carolina, March 27.

On friday last the Rev. Mr. Whitefield preached in the New-England meeting, and on sunday gave a very affecting farewell sermon in the same place. Yesterday he set out by land for Philadelphia, where he intends to embark next June for England.

NEW-YORK, April 15.

Wednesday arriv'd the Duke of Cumberland packet Boat, Capt. Goodrich with the January mail, which we with so much reason supposed to be lost: We hear she has been for these 5 weeks beating on the Coast.

And on Saturday arrived the Lord Hyde packet Capt. Goddard, with the February mail: On the 14th of February, 10 leagues from the Lizard, they spoke with Capt. John Blake, of the John Galley, from Boston for London, who had been out 22 days, and had some time on the passage the misfortune to lose three men who were washed overboard, together with his boats, &c.

'Tis said the Stamp Duties in America are to take place the first Day of September next.

His Majesty in Council has been pleased to Order and Declare, That the Western Banks of the River Connecticut from whence it enters the Province of the Massachusets-Bay, as far North as the Forty-Fifth Degree of Northern Latitude, be the Boundary Line between the Provinces of New-Hampshire and New-York: and that all Persons concerned are to take Notice and govern themselves accordingly.

A few days ago a quarrel (the cause of which we have not heard) happened between two women, the wives of Jasper Allen, and Thomas Doughty both of this city: we are informed that Elizabeth Allen went to the house of Thomas Doughty and assaulted his wife, who being pregnant, a miscarriage and the death of the infant ensued: The jury brought in their Verdict manslaughter, and the offender is in Goal.

NEWPORT, April 15.

Capt. Hathaway from North-Carolina, informs, that Mr. Whitehouse, Lieutenant, and Mr. Simpson, Master of his Majesty's sloop Viper, fought a duel there, in which the former was killed, and the latter 'twas tho't would not long survive. The dispute arose between them about a Woman.

Two men belonging to Capt. Dunn from Boston, lying at North Carolina, having some angry words, went to blows, but in the contest they fell overboard and were both drowned.

At the same place, one Mr. Thomas (a gentleman of great abilities in the gormandizing way) for a wager of three shillings, eat twelve large trouts, just out of the brine, and broil'd; and won it with great ease.

PROVIDENCE, April 13.

By a Letter from London, we are acquainted that Col. ISAAC BARRE, member of parliament for the Burrough of Chipping Wycomb, in the county of Bucks, distinguished himself gloriously in parliament, by a strenuous opposition of ministerial projections against the known rights of the colonies, which were most unconstitutionally attacked by the Commons of G. Britain, when they resolved that STAMP DUTIES should be charged here.---He, openly, and with great firmness, patronized the injured Colonies, and asserted their privileges.----A Column ought to be erected to him in America, as a lasting Monument of the gratitude of the people, for his virtue, fortitude & animated endeavours to rescue them from slavery. —Should this, or any other public mark of the warm sense we have of his friendship and zeal, be resolved on by the Governments of North America, free-will offerings would abundantly supply the expence.

PORTSMOUTH, New-Hampshire, April 15.

We have advice by a schooner arrived here from St. Sebastians, that about the second of January, Capt. Geban in a Brig belonging to Salem, bound to Bilboa, who had been out 21 days, and met with terrible Storms, was obliged to put in at St. Sebastians, where he received a letter from his correspondent in Bilboa, informing him that he had then 16000 quintals of fish landed, and no vent for it, and ordering him to Cadiz;—That from the 16th of Dec. to the 23th of January, eleven sail of vessels were cast away and lost between Bilboa and Bayonne, mostly laden with fish, belonging to these parts; one of them was a ship from Newfoundland, for Bilboa; another was a snow from New-England, for Bilboa, both [illegible] near St. Anthony's, these two being at anchor off said port, and having long been beating in the bay, were much disabled, a terrible sea obliged them to cut their cables and make a bold push to get in, but the storm was so great, that no pilot or small craft could get to their assistance; they both struck on the bar, and every every soul on board perished. One brig from some part of New-England, was cast on shore near St. John's de Luaz.

We hear that at a court of general sessions of the peace holden at York, for the county of York the last week, six women were convicted by their own confession, of Fornication, and four of them sentenced to pay a fine of Fifty Shillings Lawful Money each, to receive ten stripes on the naked back at the Public Whipping-Post and pay Costs of Prosecution, and stand committed till Sentence be performed; they not being able to pay received the Stripes in full tale the same hour accordingly, and are detained for Cost.

BOSTON, April 22. 1765.

We are requested by a Number of our Customers to insert the following Regulations in this Paper.

ALL Persons in Town and Country are desired for Time to come, to observe the following necessary easy Regulation, in walking or driving of Carriages through the Streets or out of Town; which is strictly adhered to by all well regulated Cities in Europe, especially London; where without a due Observation of it there would be great Confusion in passing, and Obstruction of Business---Namely, Always to keep the Right-Hand Side of the Way:—by which you perceive that Passengers going out, do not run foul of, or interfere with those that are coming in; for one is on the left Side, while the other is on the right.

By all who are fond of good Order, we hope this Regulation will not be disregarded, but that we shall henceforth see it strictly observed; in order to which, 'tis requested that all Masters and others would inform their Servants and Friends of the Design, that they may conform to the same.

'Tis especially necessary to be observed in driving of Carriages.

Extract of a Letter from London, Jan. 24.

"There is great talk at the other End of the Town about the Alteration of Governments to be made the next Session of Parliament, in the Northern District of America; it is said there will be but four, viz. Nova Scotia, Province of Main, New-Hampshire and New-York.—The Massachusets, Rhode Island and Connecticut, to be divided between New-York and New-Hampshire."

Last Thursday Evening was married Mr. EZEKIEL PRICE to Miss RUTH AVERY, Daughter to JOHN AVERY, Esq; An agreeable young Lady, well-accomplished to render the Marriage State happy.

Thursday Morning arrived here a Schooner belonging to Duxbury, from Cadiz, in 57 Days. The Capts. Hayter and Haynes, belonging to this Place, were at Cadiz, when the Schooner came away.

The Surveyor-General has been pleased to appoint Edward Winslow, Esq; to be an Officer of his Majesty's Customs, to reside at Plimouth, in the Province of Massachusets-Bay.

We hear from Lancaster, that on the 18th ult. Col. Oliver Wilder of that Place, rose from his Bed in the Morning at his usual Hour in perfect Health, and walk'd out, but soon returned seized with an uncommon Pain a-cross his Vitals, and sat down in a Chair by the Fire Side, and expired in about half an Hour after.

We hear from Kingston, Jamaica, that on the 20th of January died there the once prosperous, gay, beautiful, and almost irresistably engaging Miss TERESIA CONSTANTIA PHILLIPS, and her Remains were interr'd there unattended by a single Friend of either Sex.
